About the university (UPM)

The university I went to called The Technical University of Madrid (UPM), was founded in 1971 as the result of merging different Technical Schools of Engineering and Architecture, originating mainly in the 18th century. Over 35,000 students attend classes during the year. According to the annual university ranking conducted by El Mundo, the Technical University of Madrid ranks as the top technical university in Spain, and second overall. The majority of its Engineering Schools are consistently ranked as leading academic institutions in Spain in their fields, and among the very best in Europe.

UPM's Schools are spread all over Madrid, instead of being placed in a unified campus. They are: University City or Moncloa Campus, Montegancedo Campus, South Campus (Vallecas's Politechnical Complex) and Downtown Campus (Schools inside Madrid's historical center). The campus I went to is Montegancedo campus, it is a 30 minutes bus from the Moncloa campus. Even though it's a little bit far but it is full of nature and green, very beautiful.

Preparation before go

Since my stay is longer than 3 months and my nationality is Chinese so that I got the Spanish visa before I go. Highly recommend to get the visa 1 and half month before since the Spanish visa takes almost 1 month to get. Before I went to the exchange program I have already got a job offer and since the study in Europe will contribute to part of my research so that I did seminar with my professor in Tokyo every two week to update my research progress. After I arrived Madrid, there is a director charge of exchange study program, called Manuel Sierra, he is very helpful and helped me set up everything. Before I went to Spain, I applied the Spanish intensive course for summer, if you would like to learn some language remember to apply before you go, most of the school have the language center for exchange students.

About research and study

My professor in Madrid called Gonzalo, a very kind and passionate person. We had several seminars to discuss my research topic during my stay and after that I decided my research topic: How Culture Diversity impacts on Open Innovation in China, Japan and Europe Union. And set up the goal that at the end of my stay I will submit a paper about this topic. I worked with those doctors in the lab and also had seminar with Gonzalo every two weeks to make sure my paper is in the right direction. And at the end he was very satisfied with my paper. Since my major in Tokyo Institute of Technology is Customer Satisfaction, so there was no too many courses I can choose to take and after talked with Gonzalo he helped me registered in a business course in the university and studied with the students from all over the Europe. So that I did learn a lot through this program.

Trip in Toledo with classmates

About Spanish study, after the 3 weeks intensive course, I joined the regular language course in the university which is two times a week. The Spanish class is also one of the best part of the study there, very experienced teacher and very diverse classmates. In my class only I am from Asia, the rest of the classmates from the rest part of Europe. Not only study in the class we also went to the museum Prado, Reina Sofia and etc. But since I would like to learn more Spanish during my stay so that I went to find a language school outside the university. I didn't really like the first one and asked the advice of my Spanish teacher in the university and she recommended me another one which I really like and studied there for two months there.

About the apartment and life.

I used the website <https://www.aluni.net> which recommended by the university to find my apartment—a share house. I was very satisfied with the apartment and my roommates(one is Spanish and the other is Slovakian). My apartment was in Moncloa area which is an area very convenient and full of students and local people. I had a really good stay there.

About my spare time, I went many trips inside Spain and also UK and Portugal with student travel group or with my Japanese friends. It was really beautiful and a good opportunity to know more people. And as well I like running in the park named el parquet de oeste near my apartment which has a super nice view.

About spending.

The life cost in Madrid is much cheaper than Tokyo. My apartment costed 550 euro each month and the intensive Spanish course inside the university costed 350 euro three months, and the regular one costed 110 euro. The intensive Spanish course outside the university in the language school cost 350 euro for 5 weeks. If you could buy the air ticket one or two months before it could be very cheap.

Message to all.

At the first beginning I thought it's a four-month study I have enough time to spend but time flies so fast. Treasure your stay there if you get a chance to do the exchange program. Not only I got the skills of speaking Spanish fluently but also got more insights of my research. More importantly I made new friends from all over the Europe and also friends from other Asian countries. It's really a great experience not only for study but of for life. Take advantage of this great opportunity and go to a country you are interested and start enriching your life please.
